CAMPBELL, SANTA CLARA COUNTY, CALIFORNIA.

Merced County's output of dairy products is only exceeded by Los Angeles County in California, according to William H. Allison, Jr., assistant county farm advisor. Allison said the report for 1926 showed that Merced County produced a total of 10,256,000 pounds of milk fat.

That the recent standardization order of Premier Mussolini of Italy relative to Sicilian lemons may have the effect of bringing that fruit into competition with citrus products from California is the belief of George H. Hecke, director of the state department of agriculture.

Cotton ginning in the Calexico-Mexicali districts established a new high record for the season during the past week, according to figures given by the ginners last week. Six gins in Mexicali turned out 2286 bales, making the total for the season to date 10,074. Ginning on the American side of the line was light due to freak showers that visited the north end of valley. The production for the week was twenty-two bales, making the season's total 1134.

The California Olive Growers' Exchange, a state-wide organization for the cooperative handling of olives, was organized at a meeting of olive growers at Sacramento last week and articles of incorporation were on file with the secretary of state. Headquarters of the exchange are to be established in Sacramento.

Serious "red spider" injury has been noted recently in citrus groves in eastern Los Angeles county, according to K. L. Wolff, deputy horticultural commissioner. Generally speaking, he says, the damage has been found to be most severe in orchards which have not been recently irrigated. While the number of spiders was found to be nearly as great on some of the more recently irrigated properties, the amount of injury from their attacks was noticeably less.

The heavy rains which fell recently have caused considerable damage in the Tracy section, San Joaquin county to the beans, grapes and alfalfa, according to Joe Silveira of Banta. He states, however, that if the weather continues fair for a few days, much of the bean crop may be saved from rot. Harvesting of beans had just begun in that district and the rain caused great uneasiness among the growers.

Assistance of the United States Department of Commerce in obtaining complete information on the marketing of grapes in eastern cities has been asked by the California Vineyardists' Association in connection with the research program that is now being carried on by the association. The association has asked that the department assist in circulation of questionnaires in the principal grape markets, through which the association may obtain data essential to completion of the study of marketing and distribution questions, and which the association expects to use as a part of the foundation for the program of stabilization of distribution.

The first damaging frosts of the 1927 fall season in California occurred during the second week in October, according to the mid-October report issued by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, United States Department of Agriculture, co-operating with the State Department of Agriculture. The frost area extended from the Lompoc district in Santa Barbara counties, north through the coastal vegetable districts to Contra Costa county, and into the Sacramento Valley. Tomato vines were nipped in most of the lowland sections, while lettuce and green beans were damaged to a limited extent in the Salinas Valley and in the Sacramento district. No frost has occurred in the vegetable districts from Ventura county south.

Persons who wish to see a revision of the Volstead Act may take but small comfort in the announcement made last week by K. L. Carver, vice-president in charge of the milk division, California Dairies, Inc., that during the last twelve months Californians have consumed 433,450,212 quarts of milk. This was at the rate of 1,187,530 quarts a day. Every Californian last year consumed six quarts more milk than the year previous and there is every indication, concluded Mr. Carver, that another year will see Californians pass the 500,000,000-quart mark.

Golden State

General good weather throughout California during November, with only a few depressions that will result in showers that will increase in volume toward the Pacific Northwest, is the month's weather prediction issued last week by Father Ricard, "Padre of the Rains" at Santa Clara.

Publication of California's new laws, passed at the 1927 session of the Legislature, has been completed, and the edition of 3,000 volumes was last week being delivered to Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan for public sale, it was announced by State Printer Carroll H. Smith. All legislation for 1927 is set forth in each volume, it was announced, the new statute book totaling 2,525 pages, which contain 85 resolutions and 898 chaptered laws. The law-books will be sold at $5 a copy by the Secretary of State.

Steps to obtain a full and accurate tabulation of all California highway accidents, and thus provide a basis for study of the causes of automobile mishaps and means of reducing their number, were announced last week by Frank G. Snook, chief of the state division of motor vehicle accidents. All county traffic squad captains under the proposed plan will be required to report the details of every motor vehicle mishap to the State division.

Asserting that the scenic value of California highways must be protected, Bert B. Meek, State director of public works, announced last week that action is being withheld on applications by oil producing interests to cut through the walls of Ventura highway parapet in approaching State tidal lands where oil drilling is proposed. Meek pointed out the State has spent approximately $500,000 on the parapet which provides a view of the ocean attracting visitors from all over the world.

Premiums paid on workmen's compensation insurance in California during the last twelve years total $148,680,244.61 and during the same period insurance carriers paid $80,037,361.93 to injured workers and their dependents, it was announced last week by John A. McGilvray, director of the State department of industrial relations.

That Trinity County is one of the best regions in the state for deer hunters is shown by the records of last season just compiled in the office of the Trinity National Forest. Hunters registered last season at the various gateways to the forest numbered 3,631. An even 1,000 came into the forest and county at the Tower House entrance, twenty miles northwest of Redding.

California's state fish exchange has no right to fix the price of fish caught in Mexican waters or beyond the three-mile limit of the coast line, Judge Andrews ruled last week in superior court in San Diego in granting an injunction sought by 100 deep-sea fishermen of San Diego port against the state marketing officials. The court overruled a demurrer of the attorney general's office to plaintiff's cause of action in so far as it would affect jurisdiction of the state on fish caught in foreign waters or from the high seas, and sustained it as applying to fish caught within the three-mile limit.

California is winning the long battle against tuberculosis, it was revealed last week when the State Department of Public Health announced that the "white plague" death rate has been cut almost in half during the last two decades. A comprehensive survey of death statistics shows that the tuberculosis mortality rate in this State was only 14.04 per hundred thousand population during the last year as compared with 221.8 per hundred thousand in 1906.

Big Oak Flat, Tioga and Wawona mountain roads into the Yosemite valley are considered closed for the season it was announced last. Snow had been falling for two days above the 7500-foot elevation. Waterfalls were up to their midspring form and many visitors are entering over the All-year highway from Merced to view the valley. The road is reported in excellent condition.

California leads all the states in the war against crime, declared Richard Washburn Child recently in an address opening the conference of the national crime commission at Washington, of which he is chairman. Missouri, he declared was at the bottom of the list, its "stubborn legislature" having considered its duty done by making it a crime to steal a dog. "In mere bulk of legislation affecting the criminal code, California also easily leads with a record of 283 bills introduced and 86 passed. However, the number passed was largely due to the revision of the criminal code and the work of its standing committee."

CHEST CAMPAIGN NEARING CLOSE

The Community Chest "non-stop flight is nearing its close and from the reports made on Wednesday Campbell districts should have about reached the altitude record.

The army officers who have given so generously of time and money are deserving of the community's commendation and consideration. They are giving doubly and every one should be ready to help to the best of their ability and cheerfully.

No one "craves" the task of making these canvasses and since it must be done by some one, they should be accorded every courtesy. Working entirely without pay or reward of any kind, except the satisfaction of work well done, the least they can expect is a kindly hearing.

The local committee is composed of S. N. Hedegard, president; Guy Farley, treasurer; Mrs. L. F. Shaw, secretary; and Dr. F. R. Anderson, manager.

Captains in the outlying districts are Mrs. George Payne for Moreland; Louis Shelly, Cambrian; Mrs. E. G. Margeson, San Tomas; Mrs. Joseph Conner, Meridian; W. R. Coupland, Hamilton, and Mrs. L. A. Farwell, Union.

The report for the first two days showed 168 subscriptions made totalling $1144, of which $979 was cash. Several solicitors had not reported at that time.

Meridian district, under Mrs. J. A. Conner, and Hamilton, under W. R. Coupland, were over the top with their quota the first day and not all of their territory visited. Hurrah for those districts!

ARMISTICE DAY OBSERVED HERE

Armistice Day, November 11, is now a State legal holiday, as the bill passed by the last legislature and signed by the governor, so created it. In so doing, the governor insisted that it be not "just another holiday," but that it shall be observed with proper exercise with the particular purpose of impressing the lessons of patriotism and public service on the younger generation and in combating the efforts of those radicals who favor the forcible overthrow of our American institutions.

In accordance with this request the day is being observed in Campbell by the closing of the schools and the business houses, the latter remaining open until 9 o'clock.

The postoffice will also participate in the recognition of the day. About seventy of the local Boy Scouts will join in the San Jose parade and there will be joint services at the Congregational Church in the evening.

It is reported that a very fine chute of ore has been discovered on the 1,200-foot level of the Original Mine at Clearinghouse, Mariposa County. Development work is going ahead at the mine on several levels, in most of which excellent ore has been developed. Capitalists have been at the Original recently trying to negotiate for its purchase, but is said the mine is not for sale.

Following a conference between Governor C. C. Young and State Railroad Commissioner William J. Carr, it was announced last week at the executive offices that the governor has urged his newly appointed Commission on Gas Resources to begin action at once in seeking to reduce the wastage of natural gas in California oil fields.

Chamber of Commerce, Monday.

DUTCH WRITERS STUDIED BY CLUB

The Country Woman's Club enjoyed a very pleasant afternoon, Monday.

The business session was full of interest as well as the program. Mrs. L. J. Carboni gave a report of some of the outstanding features of the county federation held at Cupertino recently.

Mrs. D. H. Cramer reported that the committees from the Kiwanis and Country Woman's Club had had several meetings and plans for an entertainment were progressing favorably.

The topic for the afternoon was "Dutch Writers," with Mrs. M. E. Purmort, chairman.

It was quite a revelation to learn of the number of authors that Holland had produced as so many of them have been obliged to publish their work through other countries as royalties were so small in the their own.

The Dutch language is not as well known as several other European languages, so that few can read the originals and the works loose so much by translation that not many are translated.

Mrs. Purmort treated the subjects in three periods, but there was little of note until 1840 when a magazine called "The Guide" was published. This was a critical journal and aroused new spirit in the writings of the day. Several authors of note were named.

In 1880, a "New Gids" or Guide affected the literature as effectively as did the old Gids.

Among the writers of this period are Cornelie Huygens, Anna Lohman and Herman Roberts (who wrote a series of novels descriptive of home life).

The two greatest of Dutch authors are Louis Couperus and Emants. The former's novels "Majesty" and "Universal Peace" have been translated into most modern languages.

An American of Dutch birth, who is widely known and read is Hendrik Willem Van Loon and Mrs. Purmort gave a short account of his life.

She also spoke briefly of Dutch drama, which like their literature is, as a whole, rather depressing.

Mrs. Cramer had as her topic the music of the country which seems to be much more a feature of the life of the people than literature. The Dutch are an extremely musical folk, every village having choral societies, operas and home singing.

Many of the world's greatest orchestral and choral leaders are Hollanders and that country has and is giving a fine musical heritage to the world.

Scouts Will Perform

The Scout troops of Campbell, assisted by the Campfire Girls, are planning a big program in the Grammar School Auditorium on January 13. The object is to raise funds for athletic equipment. H. C. Smith and Rev. J. H. Bennett have secured over $1000 worth of gymnasium equipment at less than half price, and have already placed it at the disposal of the scout troops. The scouts have taken to the spring-boards, mats, leather horses, parallel bars and the bucks like monkeys to a jungle and desire to assist in raising the cash to pay for the equipment.

A combined Campfire Girl and Boy Scout cast has already been selected to present a play as part of the program; and the different groups are already at work preparing polished stunts for the big night. Band leader, Thielke, promises music by the orchestra. F. H. Cutting is at work on special stage scenery for the occasion and a splendid spectacle seems assured.

M. C. Knopf is building an attractive six room bungalow on his acre tract on Dry Creek, between the W. C. Cutting and Mrs. M. Dunphy homes.

HITCHBORN TALKS ON TAXATION

Franklin Hitchborn the veteran writer and investigator spoke before a large audience at the grange Tuesday evening, taking for his subject "Taxation," and "Water and Power Development." He gave a very concise history of tax legislation during the last 25 years, devoting considerable time to the King tax bill, showing how difficult it was to secure legislation favorable to the people of the State with all the power of great corporations opposed to it and asserting that while the taxes of the common people have doubled within the last ten years, the taxes of utility corporations have remained practically the same.

He also gave a brief history of the water and power act, and of the work of the Jones investigating committee which showed that utility corporations spent hundreds of thousands of dollars to defeat the act.

The address was listened to with marked attention throughout and created considerable comment by others at the close of the meeting.

Mr. Hedegard later spoke of the community chest drive, encouraging people to assist in every way and saying we hope to go over the top as we have done before.

Two fine solos were sung by H. C. Tuttle with Dr. Merrill at the organ.

Tuesday evening was Ceres' night at the grange. Ceres was the goddess of grain and seed in Roman mythology. The earlier accounts seem to have no special myths associated with her, but the myths of the Greek goddess Demeter were later connected to Ceres, resulting in long mythical stories of her doings. All the 9 granges of the county and from Monterey county were represented. They marched in together bearing a small basket of grain and took seats in a circle at the front of the hall.

After a short history of Ceres by Mrs. Hedegard, Ceres of Orchard City Grange, each one gave a short history of the kind of grain she represented - covering flax, hemp sorghum, oats, rice, wheat, corn, barley and rye, and the tenth one representing the county grange, spoke of agriculture in general.

The hall was beautifully decorated with shocks of corn, sheaves of rice and wheat, and flowers. At the close all formed in line and marched around passing Ceres, who gave each one a pop corn ball wrapped in waxed paper, and then on to the dining room where cakes and coffee were served and a social time enjoyed.

REUNION ENJOYED

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Whitman returned Tuesday morning from Hollywood where they attended the sessions of the Kiwanis convention held there last week. They spent Sunday and Monday at Long Beach with relatives and friends and their presence in that city was the incentive for a gathering of former residents of Centerville, S. Dakota, at Bixby Park Sunday noon where they all enjoyed a delightful reunion.

White at P.T.A.

The P.T. A. (High School) will hold its regular meeting next Tuesday night, November 15, at 7:30. Harrison White, County Scout leader, will give the talk. The P.T. A. has announced as one of its year's projects the assistance of the Scouts, and they are depending upon White to show the possibilities that lie in the scout movement, as the first step in carrying out their plans.

Mrs. S. N. Hedegard, president of the P.T. A., has invited anyone interested in boys or Boy Scouts to attend the meeting.

SUPT. HANCOCK TELLS KIWANIS OF COUNTY SCHOOLS

Kiwanis were given inside information on the county school system Tuesday when County Superintendent Jos. E. Hancock gave a luncheon talk at Campbell. The educational investment in this county alone is over 10 million dollars. There are 26,000 children in the schools and about 1000 adults in part time school work.

The program of Santa Clara county schools has seven sided development, particular stress being laid on character building, health and good citizenship.

Character and citizenship are developed through the student body management, control and discipline. As an outgrowth of these self directed duties an attitude toward civic duties and law observance is created.

By recent trials known as the Springfield Test, present day pupils are more advanced for their age than in former days.

In keeping with the movement of centralizing of management Mr. Hancock suggested a possible standardization of the county system by making nine district school boards instead of the present day 73 boards. This single board system for both high and grammar school has been very successfully practiced in other states for many years.

D. H. Cramer reported that the Choral Society will soon begin practice on the cantata for the library benefit program. Hal Tuttle and "Doc" Merrill sang a very pleasing duet.

Nic Hedegard, president of Campbell Community Council urged all good citizens to do their bit in showing the "Spirit of Campbell" in the Chest Drive.

Vic Holmes, as chairman, used the drug mixer to good advantage and settled several disputes by short-bit assessments.

Ralph Hyde will sit on the throne next week and report will be given by men who came all the way from Hollywood to tell of convention movies in that noted city. They are: E. C. Merrill, H. C. Smith, J. E. Weisen-danger and C. H. Whitman.

SHOWER PARTY GIVEN MRS. DUNLAP

Mrs. Miriam Skiff Dunlap was tendered a miscellaneous shower last week by about thirty-five of her sister members of Ada Rebekah Lodge.

The guest of honor was surprised at her home and then escorted to the home of Mrs. J. C. Soutar, where a very happy evening was spent. A mock marriage which was very fully carried out created much amusement, and delicious refreshments were enjoyed.

The presentation and examination of the many dainty gifts was another pleasant feature of the evening.

SIX IN AUTO TIP-OVER

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Fammatre and children of New Jersey avenue had a narrow escape Sunday when a tire on their machine blew out at a slippery place on the pavement on the Monterey road. The car skidded to the edge of the pavement and turned over twice in the soft dirt.

All of the six were cut and bruised but none seriously and were taken to their home by passing autoists.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union will meet with Mrs. F. S. Newcomb, 295 West Campbell avenue, Wednesday, November 16, at 2:30 p. m.

Nine years ago, November 11, the guns ceased rumbling in France. Peace settled down over the war-torn fields, but it was not until those fields had claimed for their own, thousands of bodies of our boys.

Yes, many of our boys lie sleeping in a foreign land while others of those who did live to return were doomed to bear for life some mark of the battle.

We would not open old wounds; we would not for anything exchange the name friend for enemy, but in justice to those who suffered, in justice to all those who offered life and limb that America should remain America and that the principles of humanity for which she stands should prevail, can we let this day go without making it the occasion of a moment of remembrance and gratitude and a silent pledging of our hearts to the Flag for whose principles they braved death?

WILLIAM ALLEN WHITE ENJOYS AUTO TOUR

The genial and veteran editor of the Emporia, Kan., Gazette, after an automobile tour covering about three weeks and 3000 miles in his section of the country, makes this comforting report to his readers:

"We slept in little wind-swept desert towns and in the best hotels in larger cities of the region and every bed was a good bed.

"Commercial hospitality in the West has been standardized by American manufacturing. It is almost impossible today to go into the open market and buy a bed of a dealer in America. The worst hotels, if they have been refurnished in the last half decade, have good beds. That our standardized civilization has done.

"Now about food. The same thing has happened there. Commercial cooking is improving in America. Not that cooks are any better. The average male cook in the little cafe is a man out of a garage who took his job because he didn't get on with a man boss. He has never enjoyed any good food and he doesn't know what good food is. But he buys standard foolproof foods that can't be spoiled in cooking. Bacon, flour, lard, canned fruits, canned vegetables, prepared meats, pancake flours and a long line of ready-made or almost ready-made foods make it possible for this young man from the garage who doesn't know food from hog wash to serve a fairly palatable meal in the smallest possible cafe. It isn't home cooking. It's commercialized cooking. But you can get it down. So much a standardized civilization has done.

"As a result, wayfarers are living better than they lived in out of the way places 10 years ago. The thing that is happening to America generally is happening to country hotels. We are all grading up in the standard of living—getting more for our money.

"The three cruisers came home happy. No one tried to gouge us. Everyone was kind and generous. We have met good, hearty, kind people everywhere. Maybe God also is grading up His children. It looks that way."

Every American may take a profound satisfaction in the situation here portrayed. And it isn't peculiar to Kansas, Colorado and Wyoming. Travelers from other sections tell the same tale of accommodations, comfort, "service." Civilization percolates to the remotest corners of a kindly land. It makes a lot of other folks, including aditors, feel like taking the road.

CAN OUR DOGS THINK?

A psychology class at Columbia University have been observing a German shepard dog owned by Jacob Herbert of Detroit, which shows remarkable intelligence. This dog carries out quite complicated directions. Prof. Warden in charge of the class, was asked if the animal could really think. He wouldn't say that he could, but then some psychologists doubt if people really think.

The reasoning power possessed by some dogs seems wonderful, and they show more sense than many human beings. While men and women commit the stupendous follies, and do things that the least intelligence would suggest to be senseless, these dogs live well ordered lives, they obey commands, they make themselves useful members of a home.

Many poorly regulated human beings could well go to school to them, and if they would imitate the faithful loyalty of the dogs, they would be far more useful members of society.

High Sierra Country Ideal at This Time

The Sierra high-country is now at the height of its glory, and this is an ideal time of the year for a trip into that section, as the autumn colorings in the trees and foliage is incomparable, according to the touring department of the National Automobile Club.

The weather in the Mono Lake district is invigorating but not too cool for comfort, the thermometer registering 70 degrees above zero at 7 p. m. There have not yet been enough rains to bring the ducks in, but November never fails to see unlimited numbers of ducks on Mono lake.

The Mono region may be reached by any of the passes of the Sierra, all of which are still open. After the passes are closed, it may be reached from Reno down through Gardnerville, Coleville and Bridgeport, etc. Good roads will be encountered on either route.

Scout Installation

The installation on Sunday evening of the new troop and the dedication of the new National Flag presented to the troop by Mr. A. J. Hart of San Jose will be of great interest to Campbell, not only because of its great service to our town life, but also because of the unique distinction which is ours of being the first town in the United States to have the Wolf Cub Scouts in uniform.

Junior Scouts have been everywhere but not Wolf Cubs, which is an English movement and has only just been adopted by California. Mr. Bennett put a "move on" and we are "in."

It is expected that the church will be crowded on Sunday night for the service which begins at 7:30 o'clock.

Chamber of Commerce, Monday.

The state department of public works, in line with the new prison camp financing program sponsored by Governor C. C. Young's administration, will have 800 convicts working at wages on California highways by next spring. This was announced last week by Bert B. Meek, state director of public works, who also revealed plans for establishment of a new prison camp next year in the Monterey territory on the Carmel-San Simeon route.

The illegal employment of children in California, if any, will be thoroughly investigated within the next week or so, declared John A. McGilvray, state director of industrial relations. He said: "William A. Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, has stated that child labor has increased approximately 10 per cent in the San Francisco area within the past two years and has increased all over California."

To spread the gospel of conservation and reforestation, California's state government soon will go into the business of "making two trees grow where one grew before." A great state forest of more than 8000 acres, in the virgin hills of Shasta county, now is being plotted for the demonstration and probably will come under state ownership by act of the next legislature. California's present stand of timber totals 208,325,000 board feet, or some 16,200,000 acres, Pratt said, but more than 7,600,000 acres already have been cut over. In the cut-over areas, Pratt estimates, there are 5,700,000 acres which will reforest naturally if given proper fire protection, but on the remaining 1,900,000 acres artificial reforestation must be undertaken.

Led by the California State Automobile Association, a million motorists in 927 automobile clubs in 11 western states will fight for elimination of the federal excise tax on motor cars. This announcement was made by President Burton T. Towne of the California State Association. "We will fight every step of the way to eliminate this tax," Burton said. "Last year $66,437,861 was collected from auto owners in a tax purely a war measure. Similar taxes have been eliminated on many other lines. We are urging clubs in the west to secure support of their congressmen in the fight to eliminate this tax."

The prediction that California will send a solid delegation to the next Republican national convention instructed for Secretary Hoover was made last week by Senator Shortridge, Republican, California, upon his return to Washington. "Inasmuch as President Coolidge will not be a candidate," he said "California will send a solid delegation for Herbert Hoover for President."

Figures compiled by the National Association of Supervisors of State Banks showing marked gains in banking resources in the last eight years and indicating "the growing confidence of the people of the United States in state banking systems," were made public last week by Will C. Wood, state superintendent of banks. Resources of state banks, Wood said, have grown from $25,965,000,000 on June 30, 1919, to $40,046,661,000 on June 30, 1927. "The confidence of the people of California in state banking institutions is not misplaced," Wood declared. "The bank act which governs the state banks of California affords exceptional legal safeguards for saving deposits. From July 1, 1913, to June 30, 1927, no savings depositor in the savings departments of California state banks sustained a loss. It is a remarkable record."

The largest peach crop in the history of the Hemet Valley was completely harvested and out of the way shortly after the middle of last month. Nearly 7000 tons of the fruit were handled by canneries in this district, and an additional 3000 tons were either sold locally or lost. Growers state that this was a bad year generally from a market point of view, due to the large crop of fresh fruit and an unusually heavy holdover from last year. Only No. 1 fruit was accepted by the canneries, and there were practically no out-of-town buyers in the deal.

Announcement is made that the quarterly meeting of the California Dairy Council will be held in Oakland on November 17, during the annual Pacific Slope Dairy Show. The meeting was originally scheduled for Sacramento on October 28 and 29, but was postponed until the later date because a majority of the members desire to attend the Oakland show.

Ranchers have had great success with sweet corn in the Chino Valley this year, and indications are that the crop will prove a money maker. More than 2000 acres were planted last spring and during the early summer, and growers in the district have been supplying Los Angeles and other nearby markets with a steady flow of "corn on the cob" throughout the past few months. Some late fields are just coming into maturity, and harvesting will continue until well after Thanksgiving time.

A total of $33,873.86 for hog sales in the San Joaquin valley during last week is announced by D. H. Bitner, manager of the California Farm Bureau Marketing Association. Mr. Bitner's report shows that 1914 hogs, filling twenty cars, from 136 consignors were sold, as well as $484 worth of cows and calves from ten consignors.

One million one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars, representing the payment of 3 cents per pound upon 90 per cent of the gross weight deliveries of limas and baby limas during September, has just been made to Southern California growers, according to an announcement made by the California Lima Bean Growers' Association, with headquarters at Oxnard. The association expected to make final payment upon the 1926 crop pool of regular limas before the end of last month. The final payment for 1926 baby limas was made several months ago.

A resolution urging the United States Department of Agriculture to spend $5000 annually in assisting ranchers to rout the chili pepper weevil, has been adopted by the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, at the request of County Horticultural Commissioner A. A. Brock. The resolution sets forth that a laboratory to study the pest has already been established by the Bureau of Entomology, the California agricultural experiment station, and the growers, and it is said that the appropriation of $5000 will be sufficient to carry on the effective work already started.

Conservative estimates by the Rice Growers' Association at Colusa, Colusa county, place the number of bags of 1927 rice already in the nineteen warehouses of Colusa County at 500,000. It is also estimated that there is now about 75 per cent of the rice cut, threshed and stored in Colusa county and from 70 to 80 per cent of the Glenn county rice stored. Close to 800,000 bags of rice were produced in Colusa county last year. As many growers allowed their land to remain idle this year it is believed that the total crop output will not reach last year's figure.

After several months' preparation entailing expenditures of many thousands of dollars, citrus packinghouses of Lindsay district are ready to handle the navel crop which will start rolling soon after the 10th of November. The season is a bit later than last year and exports have been held up entirely by a new maturity ruling. Growers are warned to be sure of their tests before bringing fruit to the houses as the former outlet to foreign markets has been stopped. Nearly all of the houses in the district have installed boring equipment, and many have made arrangements and enlargements for facilitating the handling of the crop.

At the national livestock show, held recently at Memphis, Tennessee, California represented in the boys' judging contest by a team of four boys from Ripon Union Junior and Senior High School of Ripon, San Joaquin county, took fifth place. These boys have been consistent high placers in both county and state contests. At the Pacific Slope Dairy Show, held last November in Oakland, they won first place in the state and the right to enter the national contest at Memphis.

Application of a liquid formula of which zinc chloride is the active agent will check and control blight on Bartlett pears, according to L. H. Day of the Pomology Division, University of California, at the branch of the College of Agriculture at Davis. Day recently worked out the formula and proved its value through the cooperation of a large number of fruit growers in this state. One grower reported that by using the liquid he controlled the blight and saved over $10,000 in his orchard.

PAUL MARSTON

Paul Marston, 49, prominent valley orchardist, died Monday morning at the San Jose hospital, where he had been confined for the last fortnight.

Marston, who spent virtually his entire life in the valley, lived on his 280-acre fruit ranch on Union avenue for the last nine years. He also operated a 400-acre ranch, planted to fruit and grapes, at Morgan Hill. Among his holdings was the Winchester estate, location of the famous "mystery house."

Taken seriously ill two weeks ago, Marston was ordered to the hospital. Complications followed rapidly, the end coming Monday morning. The family were at his bedside when he died.

He is survived by his widow, Sarah M. Marston, and the following children: Maud, Lois, Paul Jr., Coburn and George Marston.

Of asserted importance to the fruit-growing industry is the introduction of a new form of soap used as a spreader for the poisons for the protection of deciduous fruits. The new product is known as Fish Oil Soap Flakes, and, according to George R. Murdock of the Western Soap and Chemical Company of Los Angeles, eliminates all of the former defects of fish oil soap as used in solid form. Steps are being taken toward a thorough survey of market conditions and Mr. Murdock declares that quantity production will commence shortly.

The attractions of California make permanent residents out of approximately 40 per cent of the automobile tourists who visit the State each year. This estimate was announced recently by Frank G. Snook, chief of the state division of motor vehicles, on the basis of a check of automobile licenses issued over a number of years. Out of 70,000 temporary permits issued out of State tourists last year, said the estimate, 28,000 were changed into permanent vehicle registrations at the request of motorists desiring to make their homes in California.

San Diego one day last week had its warmest day of the year and one of the warmest October days in the history of the local weather bureau. The temperature reached 83.4 degrees at 11 a. m., and was above 80 for most of the day. A low pressure area, according to the weather bureau officials, allowed a blanket of hot air from Arizona to creep in. There was little humidity in the atmosphere.

Busy days are ahead for the state printing plant. State Printer Carroll H. Smith announced recently that more than 700,000 public school text books are in the process of publication at the plant, and a new order for 125,000 civics has just been received from the state board of education. The civics are for delivery January 1st. In addition to the text book jobs the printer is turning out for 1927 statutes, containing the laws enacted by the last legislature. The peak production of 200 volumes per day will not be reached until next week, Smith said. The plant has just completed the printing of 25,380 elementary arithmetics at a cost of 24 1/2 cents per book, and 25,535 first readers at an average cost of 17.7 cents per copy.

Everybody's Goin' to Big Football Game;

Commiskey Buys Shortstop Cissel for $125,000;

Hudkins-Dundee Fiasco Little Less Than Crime.

By A. B. SPORT

All the boys I meet are going up to the big football game next Saturday, and I hope to be among them. Cal may be a slight favorite all right, because they are playing at home, which is only natural. A team that isn't a favorite on its own grid couldn't amount to much. But, since Cal got the hooks down at Los Angeles when the Trojans ran them ragged, and since Stanford had a rather narrow escape from defeat at the hands of the Huskies last Saturday, the Bear rooters may be a little shy backing their team off the boards.

Most of the Stanford experts I meet lean toward U. C., and I don't think sentiment influences their judgement so very much.

Still you can never tell. Surprises there will always be as long as football or any other game is played. But for surprises our national pastimes would lose glamor a plenty.

A California victory Saturday will put pep in the Big Game. Now won't it? Stanford won't be so cocksure should the Bears run wild over the Huskies.

On the other hand if the Huskies triumph I sort of predict a parade for the Card, and we will have to wait another year or two for that "wonder team, No. 2" we have heard about lately.

There are some local football rooters who are doping a victory for Washington, and one of the most rabid is W. B. Maxwell, the real estate operator. Maxwell is an old Washington man, and so has some inside dope on the Huskies.

"Washington will win because of its superior life," he said last night, the team is not fast behind the line but I figure that Washington will bust through the Bears line, and throw the backs for losses."

Twenty years ago California and Stanford played Rugby, and the cards won. Cal was never able to master Rugby, while Stanford was a demon playing the imported article of football. Finally Cal got discouraged and broke away, going back to the American game, and a year or so later Stanford followed. Rugby had acquired quite a following when it was supplanted. It was a fast game where speed cut more figure than than beef and brawn.

Earnest Barnard, new president of the American League, was formerly a baseball writer, and so was Ban Johnson, his predecessor. Ban was supposed to get $50,000 a year when he got kicked out. The American League starts Barnard off with a modest salary of $40,000, which is about four times what Ban got when he launched the American League. But there is a chance for the new pilot to catch up with Ban if he shows ability. Judge Landis is paid $75,000 a year. The big leagues don't care how much they spend on salaries, for they are getting a dollar for seats they use to sell for 50 cents.

When Charley Comiskey stepped out and paid something like $100,000 for Willie Kamm the baseball fans thought the high water mark for baseball ivory had been reached, but they thought wrong. Comiskey broke his record the other day when he bought Shortstop Cissel from Portland for something like $125,000. Portland purchased Cissel from Des Moines two years ago for $13,000 which was the banner price paid by a minor league club for a bush artist. Since then Cissel has been under the watchful eye of Danny Long, the San Francisco scout who is in the employ of Comiskey.

Long tried to induce Comiskey to buy the Waner boys from the Seals. Comiskey thought the price steep, and the result was Pittsburgh got them, and Comiskey has been sore ever since.

The Waner brothers are now the big scream in the National League. They virtually won the flag for the pirates last season.

Long thinks Cissel will be an able assistant of Kamm, who now covers third for the White Sox. But just the same Comiskey separated for a lot of money for one player.

Every seat for the Notre Dame-Southern California football game in Soldiers' Field Stadium, Chicago, a month hence, has been sold, according to an announcement by J. Arthur Haley, Notre Dame business manager of athletics. The contest on November 26, where the Army-Navy game took place last fall will therefore attract another 110,000 throng.

The Hudkins-Dundee fiasco will be a body blow to the boxing game at Los Angeles. On the surface of things it would seem that the State boxing commission would have averted the "mess" had it been right on the job. When it noised around that Dundee was to get a $60,000 guarantee then the commission should have moved in and insisted on a showdown. No fighter of Dundee's stripe was entitled to any such money, and we question if any such money was really promised him. The only way for boxers to work is on the percentage of the box office receipts. Boxers are entitled to a reasonable portion of what they draw at the gate, and no more. No boxer has any right to ask a manager to pay him more than can be taken in.

But Dundee should have gone into the ring, money or no money. The crowd had come out to see him perform and it was little less than a crime for him to run out like he did.

Santa Clara and Saint Mary's freshmen teams will kick the pigskin at Santa Clara tomorrow and this will be no gentle combat.

The Pacific Coast League is thinking about splitting its season next year. It has been tried before, and never worked. The idea is if there is a runaway race it gives the clubs a chance to start all over, and revive the interest in mid-season. The Oaks won way off this year and this killed the interest in the race. What the clubs had better do would be to spend more money and stiffen up their ranks, and make it harder for the other fellows to win games. Well matched clubs don't need to divide the season.

Some of the major leagues this week changed pilots. The Cards took the burden off O'Farrell's shoulders and made McKennhie manager. The latter once won a flag for Pittsburg and is a good man. O'Farrell did all right with the Cards last season but the owners of the St. Louis club said they didn't want to spoil a good catcher by adding to his "white man's burden."

Bert Shotten, a fiery player, who made a winning club out of Syracuse in the Inter-National League, will tackle the Philadelphia National Club which is a hard proposition. Stuffey McInnis had it this year. Nobody can do much with the team for the owner refuses to blow himself for young players. Slug Slattery, who caught for Oakland several years back, will manage the Boston Braves. Slattery has coached since for Harvard. Bancroft had enough of the Braves, and will play with Brooklyn. Boston made Red Killifer an offer before signing Slattery. Killifer asked $20,000 for his work, and the club refused to give him more than $18,000. So Red elected to stick with Seattle.

Yale gave its prospects of licking Princeton this week a severe jolt Tuesday by barring its brilliant half-back from the game for the rest of his career. It was found that Caldwell had played a couple of games with Brown as a freshman, and this made him ineligible to play with Yale this year. Caldwell was rated All-American timber.

The sporting world lost a great character when they put Siper Kelly away at San Francisco Tuesday. He was one of the outstanding landmarks of the ring. Kelly and Tim McGrath, like Weber, and Fields, or Kolb and Dill, of the stage, were a team known wherever the ring had adherents. As seconds they had no superiors and their Irish wit and breezy comment were delicious. Kelly and McGrath furnished volumes of material to boxing scribes.

Kelly was a very good boxer in his youth, but lacked a wallop, as they call it. He had science enough to be champion. Kelly and McGrath seconded Tom Sharkey in all of his big fights and the stories they told the newspaper boys on Tom would fill a book. Spider conducted a sporting resort in San Francisco a long time and amassed a fortune of $100,000 or so. He was generous almost to a fault. His slogan was never let the "Old Gang Suffer."
